MSOE Student Conduct Code

All students are members of several communities — country, state, city and campus. As such, each student is subject to the conduct codes prescribed by each of these communities. Concurrently, both the university and civil authorities have jurisdiction in any violation of law occurring on property owned and controlled by MSOE.

As an academic community, MSOE has a vested interest in both the safety and well-being of members of this community, and the perpetuation of an educational environment that reflects the high caliber of individuals this institution is proud to have joined its alumni ranks. The intention of this code is to maintain and promote the educational mission of MSOE. The Student Conduct Code specifies the minimum level of conduct expected of every MSOE student. The policies and procedures given are those that students, faculty and administration at the university have agreed upon to further the educational mission of the university and to assist all students in the pursuit of their educational and personal development.

A student voluntarily joining any university community assumes the obligation of abiding by the standards that it has instituted relevant to its mission, processes, functions and goals. Ultimate responsibility and authority in matters of student conduct reside with the President of MSOE, who has delegated immediate responsibility and authority for student conduct to the Dean of Students, assisted by student life and residence halls staff. MSOE, through the office of the Dean of Students, reserves the exclusive authority to impose sanctions for behavior that violates this code, and/or to sever the student from membership in the academic community. Those charged with the enforcement of this code will at all times endeavor to observe the due process system so that each student is heard in a just and consistent manner. Administrators identified in this document may designate one or more individuals to act on their behalf.

The provisions of the Student Conduct Code are not to be regarded as contractual covenants between the university and the student. The university reserves the right to change procedures contained herein at any time within the student's term of enrollment or residence, with communication of said changes being given to the members of the campus community. In the event that there arises some ambiguity, inconsistency or need for clarification on student conduct procedures or any portion thereof, such definition, interpretation or clarification shall be determined at the sole discretion of the Dean of Students, and his determination in such instances shall be final.

Article I. Community Standards and Expectations

Respect for Self — MSOE strives to provide an educational environment that fosters growth and development for the whole student. To this extent, the university encourages students to work proactively toward the enrichment of themselves, mentally, physically, emotionally and socially. The University will respond when necessary to students who are engaged in behaviors that impede their ability to thrive and develop in a healthy, productive manner.

Respect for Others — MSOE expects all students to establish and maintain healthy, productive relationships with their peers and other members of campus and encourages students to be open to the opinions and values of others while not compromising their own. Further, it is expected that MSOE students behave in a manner consistent with the characteristics of respect, understanding and concern for all members of the MSOE community. The University does not tolerate any lack of respect for others regarding race, creed, sexual orientation, veteran's status, nationality, disability, gender identity or lack of identified gender.

Respect for Community — MSOE is a close community aimed at developing students in becoming talented and effective adults capable of great leadership and success. Upholding and respecting the standards of the MSOE community is the responsibility of all who comprise it, and its strength is only as good as the members of the community make it. MSOE expects students to be positive contributors to the culture and mission of the university and to act as stewards of the University within the greater community. Students shall maintain an understanding and compliance of these standards, the authority of the faculty, staff and administration and the Student Code of Conduct. Students should also expect to be treated with respect and dignity by the MSOE faculty, staff and administration and all other members of the campus community.

General Student Responsibilities — All students are members of several communities — country, state, city and campus. As such, each student is subject to the conduct codes prescribed by each of these communities. Concurrently, both the university and civil authorities have jurisdiction in any violation of law occurring on property owned and controlled by MSOE.

As an academic community, MSOE has a vested interest in both the safety, health and well-being of members of this community, and the perpetuation of an educational environment that reflects the high caliber of men and women this institution contains. The intention of this code is to maintain and promote the educational mission of MSOE. The Student Conduct Code specifies the minimum level of conduct expected of every MSOE student. The policies and procedures given are those that students, faculty and administration at the university have agreed upon to further the educational mission of the university and to assist all students in the pursuit of their educational and personal development.

A student voluntarily joining any university community assumes the obligation of abiding by the standards that it has instituted relevant to its mission, processes, functions and goals. Ultimate responsibility and authority in matters of student conduct reside with the president of MSOE, who has delegated immediate responsibility and authority for student conduct to the Dean of Students, assisted by student life and residence life staff, or another designee of the Dean's choosing. MSOE, through the office of the Dean of Students, reserves the exclusive authority to impose sanctions for behavior that violates this code, and/or to sever the student from membership in the academic community. Those charged with the enforcement of this code will at all times endeavor to observe the due process system so that each student is heard in a just and consistent manner.

The provisions of the Student Conduct Code are not to be regarded as contractual covenants between the university and the student. The university reserves the right to change procedures contained herein at any time within the student's term of enrollment or residence, with communication of said changes being given to the members of the campus community. In the event that there arises some ambiguity, inconsistency or need for clarification on student conduct procedures or any portion thereof, such definition, interpretation or clarification shall be determined at the sole discretion of the Dean of Students, and their determination in such instances shall be final.

Persons Covered Under This Code — For the purpose of this document, "student" is defined as any individual who has been admitted to the university, was previously enrolled in the university, and/or uses university resources for purposes related to the university's educational mission. Visitors attending an on-campus event also may be covered under this code. Students no longer enrolled in the university may be held accountable under this code for those violations committed after they were admitted and before they left the university. Student organizations are held to the same conduct standards that apply to individual students.

Official University Communication — MSOE will use the student's email address as provided by the university. This address is considered the official form of communication for all purposes, and MSOE reserves the right to expect that students receive, read and when necessary, act in a timely manner to any requests from authority of the University. It is the student's responsibility to maintain the accuracy of all personal data. It is required that students continue to monitor the university provided email account at all times. Other means of communication such as letters from the institution or its various offices and/or departments are also considered official communication.

Prohibited Conduct Not on University Property — The MSOE Student Code of Conduct and its community standards and expectations are provisions that cover the student regardless of their location. Therefore, MSOE reserves this right to adjudicate and hold students accountable for actions that take place off campus and outside of University property, programs or activities.

Student Accountabilities — Students who are part of multiple communities with the University are subject to separate standards and expectations. Therefore, students are expected to know all policies and procedures of each community they are part of. Examples of other areas of accountability may include residence halls, athletic and/or academic teams and student organizations.

Statement of Conduct Proceedings — Because the university's procedures are educational and not criminal in nature, such separate proceedings do not constitute double/triple jeopardy. The university may proceed under this code. MSOE uses preponderance of evidence as its evidence standard for judicial proceedings.

Statement on Classroom Conduct and Expectations- Students are expected to maintain a respectful and cooperative attitude during all class sessions. Faculty and instructors have the authority to establish classroom expectations regarding participation, behavior, communication, and the use of technology. It is the responsibility of all students to adhere to these expectations to support a productive and respectful learning environment.

Failure to follow reasonable faculty instructions or engaging in disruptive conduct may result in disciplinary action as outlined in the Student Code of Conduct. Furthermore, faculty and instructors are authorized to remove students from the classroom, laboratory or any auxiliary learning environment if students are disrupting the academic or operational function of the university or are engaging in disrespectful language and/or disruptive behavior toward faculty, instructors or peers. Should a student refuse the directive to vacate the classroom/laboratory/learning environment, faculty may exercise their right to contact Public Safety to remove the student. Students are encouraged to seek clarification from faculty if classroom policies or expectations are unclear. Maintaining a positive and respectful learning environment is a shared responsibility and essential to the academic success of all students, faculty and staff.

Article II. Prohibited Conduct

A student who has been found to be responsible for any of the following acts is subject to disciplinary sanctions to include separation from the university or any lesser sanction authorized by this code.

Section 1. Behavioral Misconduct— Students are prohibited from engaging in behavior that lacks consideration for self, others and/ or the MSOE community. Specifically, students are prohibited from engaging in behavior that harasses or discriminates any member or guest of the campus community. See MSOE's Anti-Harassment and Anti-Discrimination Policy for more information. Students are not to exhibit behavior that threatens, abuses, intimidates, harms or endangers any person, or that affronts or invades the privacy of another person. Nor are students to conduct themselves in a lewd, indecent or disorderly manner. Behaviors cited above that are perpetrated by an MSOE student against another MSOE student or MSOE employee, are subject to disciplinary action by the university whether they occur on or off campus, and regardless of any action(s) taken by civil authorities.

Section 2. Physical Misconduct Towards Individual(s)- Students are strictly prohibited from stalking, attacking, assaulting and intentionally inflicting bodily harm on another person; taking any action for the purpose of inflicting bodily harm on another person; taking action with reckless regard that harms another person; or the verbal, written or other transmission of the threatened use of force to inflict harm on another person, is strictly prohibited and subject to the maximum sanction authorized by the code.

Section 3. Sexual Misconduct- Members of the Milwaukee School of Engineering (MSOE) community, including students, faculty, staff, and other employees, as well as guests and visitors (i.e., third parties), have the right to be free from sexual misconduct, including sexual harassment and sexual violence. MSOE supports a zero-tolerance policy for gender-based misconduct. The University does not discriminate on the basis of sex in its education programs and activities. See MSOE's Sexual Misconduct Policy for more information.

Section 4. Disruption of Academic or Operational Functions

Student behaviors that interfere with the academic or operational functions of the university or impedes the learning of others are strictly prohibited. Examples of prohibited behaviors may include but are not limited too; failure to comply with directives of university officials, creating an unsafe or hostile environment for other students, unauthorized sound amplification, disruption of the academic environment that denies other students the opportunity to learn, or preventing campus resources from performing their campus duties for the collective student body. Exhibiting prohibited behaviors that disrupting academic or operational functions will result in disciplinary action from the Office of the Dean of Students and may result in emergency administrative action of a student.

Section 5. Disregarding the Directive of an MSOE Official — Students are not to disregard the reasonable directive, verbal or written, of a university official. The term “university official” is here meant to include any member of the MSOE faculty or administrative staff, and any resident life staff member in the residence halls. Further, students are required and expected to follow the guidance, directives and expectations of faculty members during all instructional hours. Threatening, harassing, abusing, physically attacking, assaulting or intentionally inflicting bodily harm on such an official is subject to the maximum sanctions authorized by this code.

Section 6. Identification — Students are expected to carry their MSOE student identification (ID) at all times. Failure to produce a MSOE student ID card upon request by any university official in the performance of their duties is prohibited. Sharing MSOE ID cards with anyone is strictly prohibited. Any guests are expected to carry valid identification.

Section 7. Falsification of Information — Students are not to use or provide false documentation to the university or to officials of the university in any form, written or verbal. Students are not to knowingly misuse, misrepresent or falsify any university records, forms or procedures. Additionally, knowingly misrepresenting or withholding information, tampering with evidence or making false claims of prohibited conduct against another person is strictly prohibited.

Section 8. Academic Dishonesty — Students engaging in any form of academic dishonesty with respect to examinations, course assignments and deliverables or academic records may be subject to university disciplinary action for said offenses and to sanctions provided by this code, above and beyond any academic penalties that may be imposed. Students are expected to know and abide by the regulations governing academic dishonesty as stated in the MSOE’s Student Integrity Policy.

Section 9. Theft and/ or Destruction of Property — The theft of university, private or public property and/or possession thereof is prohibited. Students are prohibited from the destruction, vandalizing, damaging or defacing of university, private or public property.

Section 10. Throwing of Objects from Campus Buildings— Throwing, dropping or other release of any and all objects or substances from residence hall windows — or from any campus building or facility — presents an obvious and serious threat of injury to persons and/or damage to property. Accordingly, all such acts are strictly prohibited and may result in termination of residency or expulsion from the university. Additionally, students are prohibited from use of projectile launchers on campus without documented permission by an appropriate university official. Launchers may include those intended for water balloons, potatoes, pumpkins and other items. For guidance, contact the Director of Public Safety.

Section 11. Unauthorized Entry/Access— Forcible or unauthorized entry into any building, structure, facility or room therein on the premises of university owned or controlled property is prohibited. Likewise possessing or making or causing to be made, any key(s), campus cards, or other means of access to such premises or property also is strictly prohibited. Additionally, unauthorized entry into an area that had been closed by a designated MSOE official including but not limited to Maintenance, Custodial Service, or Public Safety is prohibited. Students should adhere to any verbal communication or signage that indicates an area is closed such as bathrooms, locker rooms, classrooms, or hallways. Any student who fails to adhere to communication regarding area closures may be subjected to institutional disciplinary sanctions contained in the Student Conduct Code in addition to actions taken or sanctions imposed by MSOE Administration.

Section 12. Dangerous Objects, Firearms, Weapons, Explosives, and Arson—Firearms or any weapon that could inflict bodily harm may not be brought to campus except as needed for bona fide academic purposes, and then only after being properly registered with the director of Public Safety. Resident students are further subject in this regard to the policies contained in the Office of Resident Life Policies and Procedures handbook. The use of fireworks or other explosives is not only potentially dangerous to oneself and others but also a disturbance to the living environment. For these reasons, as well as Wisconsin state law, the use or possession of fireworks, explosives or any other item or substance that may injure, discomfort or disturb other individuals is strictly prohibited. The use or intent to use any material which may result in a fire on university property constitutes as arson and is prohibited unless authorized from MSOE.

Section 13. False Reporting of Emergencies and/or Misuse of Emergency or Safety Equipment — The intentional false report of a bomb, fire or other emergency in any university facility or on property controlled by the university in any form — pull alarm, verbal, written or otherwise — is a serious violation of this code for which the maximum sanctions of this code shall be considered. Additionally, the unauthorized alteration or misuse of any firefighting equipment, safety equipment or other emergency device is strictly prohibited. If violations occur in the residence halls the prohibited conduct will result in an automatic fine placed on the student(s) responsible, or collectively on all residents of the floor involved if those specifically responsible cannot be ascertained. The schedule of fines for tampering with emergency fire or safety equipment is given in Article III, Section 11 of this code.

Section 14. Behavior Regarding Environmental, Health and Safety (EHS) — Students are expected to know and abide by the procedures, requirements and prohibitions described in the Laboratory Management Plan training protocols pertaining to chemical storage, use and disposal; use of personal protective equipment (PPE); dress codes; eating and drinking prohibitions; emergency response and other procedures. Students will receive training on these protocols for individual labs at the start of the academic term. Additional EHS requirements may be conveyed to students throughout the term. Students who violate said procedures may be subject to institutional disciplinary sanctions contained in the Student Conduct Code in addition to actions taken or sanctions imposed by MSOE Administration.

Section 15. Animal and Pets — The university prohibits personally owned animals inside campus buildings, with few exceptions. For information on MSOE's policy regarding animals in residential buildings, please see our Residence Life Handbook. Exceptions will be made for trained service animals or University approved Emotional Support Animals. Animals in outdoor areas must be on a leash, must be under control of the owners or their designees at all times and should not be left unattended. Owners are responsible for any health or safety issues that may arise concerning the presence of these animals on university properties and at University outdoor sponsored or supervised events. Please refer to the Policy regarding Service Animals for more information.

Section 16. Violation of Residence Hall Policies — Students are responsible for knowing the policies of the residence hall facilities they enter and are not to violate said rules or policies governing said residence facilities. See the Residence Life Handbook for more information.

Section 17. Violation of University Alcohol Policies — The University reserves the right to notify parents/guardians of students who are found to be in violation of institutional policies and/or state statutes regarding underage possession or consumption of alcoholic beverages. Students are responsible for knowing the university's policies governing the use, possession and distribution of alcohol, and are not to violate said rules or policies. Please see MSOE's Alcoholic Beverages and Consumption Policy for more information.

Section 18. Violation of University Smoking Policies — Smoking, including the use of electronic cigarettes or vape, is prohibited in university buildings, residence halls, apartments and enclosed structures. Smoking is only permitted in designated outdoor areas of the university. Please see MSOE's Smoking Policy for more information.

Section 19. Violation of University Use, Possession and/or Distribution of Controlled Substances Policies — Students are responsible for knowing the university's policies governing the use, possession and distribution of controlled substances, and are not to violate said rules or policies. MSOE university officials reserve the right to notify parents or guardians of such violations. Please see MSOE's Drugs and Controlled Substances Policy for more information.

Section 20. Illegal Gambling — Gambling for money or other items of value on campus or at university-sponsored activities is prohibited. Such activities include, but not limited to, betting, wagering on, or selling pools on any MSOE event, offering, and soliciting or accepting a bribe to influence the outcome of an athletic event.

Section 21. Violation of State, Federal or Municipal Law — Any student who violates any municipal, state or federal law while on property owned or controlled by the university may be subject to disciplinary action by the university for said offense(s) and to sanctions provided by this code, apart from and in addition to any action(s) taken by external agencies and/or civil authorities.

Section 22. Demonstration, Canvassing and/or Solicitation — Students have the right, accorded to all persons by the Constitution, to freedom of speech, peaceable assembly, petition and association. Students and student organizations may examine and discuss all questions of interest to them, and express opinions publicly as well as privately. They may support causes by lawful means that do not disrupt the operation of the university, or organizations accorded use of university facilities. Rallies, demonstrations and public assemblies may not unduly disrupt, prevent, obstruct or interfere the educational purposes and activities of the university. Public activity that includes expression that is obscene, defamatory, or consist of fighting words, threats of physical harm, or violate any ordinance, law, or university policy is strictly prohibited. Demonstrations that block entrances or exits from or to any university building or vehicle traffic are prohibited. Unauthorized canvassing or solicitation or the production of sound through amplification or other means that unreasonably disrupts the peace of others is prohibited on the premises or properties owned or controlled by the university.

Any person who interferes with the academic or operational functions of the university or engages in prohibited forms of demonstration will be asked to cease and desist. If he/she does not do so, the following steps will be taken:

- A. The individual(s) who is interfering with the academic or operational functions of the university will be asked to identify themselves.
- B. If the individual(s) refuses to identify themselves or to cease and desist, he/she will then subject himself/herself to arrest and will, after being identified by the police, be charged with appropriate civil law violations.
- C. The individual(s) who is interfering with the academic or operational functions of the university, who refuses to identify himself/herself or to cease and desist, also will subject himself/herself to immediate suspension from the university and be informed of the opportunity for an appeal hearing to be established at the earliest feasible date.

Section 23. Computer and Technology Misuse — Unauthorized or unlawful use of university telephones, computers or computer systems is strictly prohibited. Students are expected to know and abide by the procedures and regulations pertaining to computer accounts, university computer services and facilities that have been established by the Information Technology Department (IT), as well as any changes made to these procedures and regulations announced via computer system notices. Students who violate said procedures and regulations may be subject to institutional disciplinary sanctions contained in the Student Conduct Code in addition to actions taken or sanctions imposed by IT. Students are further reminded that extreme cases of computer misuse can lead to criminal prosecution.

Section 24. Violation of Student Organization Policies — Students participating in student organizations are responsible for knowing of and following all university policies and procedures within the student code of conduct as well as the official Student Organization Handbook and are not to violate said policies. Please see the Student Organization Handbook for these policies. Violations of said policies will result in disciplinary action from the Office of the Dean of Students and may face further disciplinary action through the Office of Campus Life.

Section 25. Posting of Materials — Any materials publicly posted on campus are required to meet our community standards and be free of images or messaging that may be hateful, discriminatory, offensive, lewd, or otherwise inappropriate. Posting material with inappropriate messaging is prohibited and can result in the materials being removed and the student(s) receiving disciplinary action. Students are responsible for hanging materials in appropriate areas. Posters in the residence halls must be brought to the front desk of each residence hall for distribution. Posters for campus buildings are only allowed to be placed on bulletin boards and outside of elevators. All posters should be taken down 24-48 hours after the event. Materials found outside the approved areas will be removed.

Section 26. Hazing — Hazing is defined as any act of “forced activity”. Meaning any activity which is a condition of initiation or admission into or affiliation with an organization, regardless of a student's willingness to participate in the activity. No person may intentionally or recklessly engage in acts which endanger the physical health or safety of a student for the purpose of initiation or admission into or affiliation with any organization operating in connection with a school, college or university. Under those circumstances, prohibited acts may include any brutality of a physical nature, such as whipping, beating, branding, forced consumption of any food, liquor, drug or other substance, forced confinement or any other forced activity which endangers the physical health or safety of the student. See MSOE’s Hazing Policy for more information.

Section 27. Guests Violating Policies — MSOE students are held responsible for the guests they invite, bring, or host on campus. The actions and behavior of the guest on campus will be attributed to their MSOE host regardless of campus location and the MSOE student will be held accountable through the conduct process for any policy violations by their guest.

Section 28. Conduct Process Obstruction — Students are expected to respect and follow the conduct process. Obstruction to the conduct process, such as refusing to meet for a conduct meeting, falsifying information, or discouraging participation from others, will result in violation of this policy.

Article III. Disciplinary Sanctions

The purpose of imposing sanctions in a student disciplinary process is to redirect the student's behavior toward a pattern more acceptable within the campus community, if such redirection is feasible; to protect the campus community from possible harm or injury by said person or persons; or to give financial redress to a plaintiff for loss, harm or destruction of property resulting from the actions of the accused. The Dean of Students, designee, or other adjudicatory agent authorized by this code, may impose the following sanctions on a student or group of students:

Section 1. Reprimand — A reprimand is a written indication to a student that their behavior is unacceptable by university standards, and that any repeated violation will warrant further sanctions. The university reprimand is the least sanction an adjudicatory agent may impose if the accused has been found to be in violation of this code.

Section 2. Referral for Counseling — A student may be directed to contact a counselor in Counseling Services for the purpose of obtaining assistance in adjusting to their responsibilities as a member of the campus community. In such cases, the adjudicatory agent may inquire only into whether such contact has been made.

Section 3. Wellness and Educational Assessments — A student may be directed to complete a drug or alcohol assessment through the Wellness Center for the purpose of obtaining assistance in adjusting to their responsibilities of a member of the campus community.

Section 4. Community Service — At the discretion of the adjudicatory agent, a community service sanction may be imposed to assist the student in positively contributing to the MSOE and Milwaukee Community. Community Service sanctions should be coordinated through the Servant Leadership Office and/or Office of Campus Life and supervised by the adjudicatory agent or designee.

Section 5. Assigned Projects — At the discretion of the adjudicatory agent, a special educational project designed to assist the accused student in better understanding the overall impact of their behavioral infraction may be assigned. Such assigned projects could include a term paper, the creation of educational posters or the planning of an educational program related to the policy infraction. Assigned projects may not include work details except as may be directly related to the offense, nor may any such assigned project be of such a nature or scope as to cause undue humiliation or degradation of the accused student. Said assigned project will be under the direct supervision of the Dean of Students or designee.

Section 6. Loss of Privileges — At the discretion of the adjudicatory agent, a loss of privileges sanction may be imposed to redirect positive contributing behavior to the community. It will be at the discretion of the adjudicating agent to determine which privileges will be impacted by this sanction.

Section 7. Disciplinary Probation — Disciplinary probation is a written statement indicating to a student that their actions have placed them in a probationary status with the university for a specified period of time. Disciplinary probation is a limited encumbrance upon the student's good standing in the university, and may involve the restriction of a student's personal privileges, activities and associations within the campus community. Because of this probationary status, any or all of the following may be imposed:

- A. Restriction from representing the university in any public performance, sporting event, intramural event or committee, or from holding any student governmental office, or membership or office in any recognized student organization.
- B. Ineligibility to receive testimonials or awards from any university source.
- C. Follow-up meetings with the Dean of Students or designee.

In the event that the student violates their probation by ignoring or failing to observe its conditions, that violation may result in probation for an extended period of time or, in those instances where more serious violation has occurred, in suspension or expulsion. In determining the sanction to be imposed upon the student for a violation of their probation, the circumstances of the original offense for which the sanction of probation was imposed shall be taken into consideration in arriving at a sanction for violating probation. Probation shall be deemed violated if the student is found to have committed, during their probationary period, any act of misconduct involving any sanction described in this code.

Section 8. Notification to Parents or Guardian — Notification to a parent or legal guardian may be made by the appropriate administrative officer to the accused student in any decision which would involve termination of residency, suspension or expulsion, in any case involving a violation of local, state, or federal law or violations involving alcohol or controlled substances. In any situation where MSOE determines the student's health, safety, or well-being in jeopardy, MSOE reserves the right to notify parents or legal guardians.

Section 9. Restitution — A student whose actions damage, deface or destroy any university property shall be required to restore said property by replacement or by monetary reimbursement, unless good cause can be substantiated otherwise, in addition to any other sanction the adjudicatory agent may recommend. For restitution, of repetitive or illegal violations, a fine may be imposed as a preventative and educational measure. Fines will be charged to the student's account.

Section 10. Tampering with Emergency Fire, Safety or Alarm Equipment Fines and Restitution — In addition to restitution and any other sanctions deemed appropriate by the adjudicatory agent, fines will be automatically assessed against students responsible for tampering with emergency fire, safety or alarm equipment in any campus facility, or against all residents of the residence hall floor collectively if those specifically responsible cannot be ascertained.

- A. Rendering a smoke detector unusable by removal of the battery unit, disconnecting of the power, or removal of the smoke detector from a resident's room or hallway location.
- B. Use of a fire hose for any purpose other than extinguishing flames.
- C. Pulling a fire alarm box resulting in an intentional false alarm.

D. Use of emergency exit for other than legitimate emergencies.

Section 11. Order of No Contact — At the discretion of the adjudicatory agent, a no contact order with another individual or designated area may be imposed.

Section 12. Relocation — In cases where a student's action and/or conduct are found to conflict irreparably with the bona fide interests of his or her immediate living environment within the residence halls, the adjudicatory agent may request relocation of that student at the discretion of the Dean of Residence Life to a living area elsewhere in the residence halls. In such cases, the Dean of Residence Life shall make every effort to relocate the student involved to an area offering a reasonable opportunity for modification of behavior to acceptable standards.

Section 13. Residence Life Probation and Contract Termination — Residency Probation is a written warning that a student has violated Residence Life policies. It means the student is at risk of losing housing if further issues occur. While on probation, a student may lose certain privileges. If the student violates the terms of their probation, they may face extended probation or be required to leave campus housing. Contract Termination means a student loses their on-campus housing because of severe or repeated policy violations. This may include:

- Being required to move out by a specific date.
- Losing access to all residence halls (except possibly for dining, if permitted).
- Not receiving a refund for housing. Meal plans will remain active unless otherwise restricted.

Termination lasts for the rest of the student's time at MSOE.

Contract Termination Process

- The Community Director meets with the student and reviews the case.
- If termination is recommended, the Dean of Residence Life reviews the case and makes a final decision.
- The student is notified in writing of the outcome and next steps.

Appeals for Residence Life Probation or Contract Termination

Students can submit a written appeal to the Dean of Residence Life within 24 hours of the decision letter. The Dean's response is final.

Section 14. Suspension- This is a recommendation by or to the Dean of Students for separation of the student from participation in any academic or other activities of the university for a fixed period of time.

- A. This action is taken when a student's conduct is deemed incorrigible and a potential threat to the campus community; a student is a repeated offender of this code; or such action seems most suitable to the violation and appropriate to give the student the necessary time to adjust their behavior to standards of conduct expected by MSOE.
- B. Any recommendation for suspension is automatically subject to review and approval by the University Review Board before any action is taken by the Dean of Students or designee, whether or not the student appeals the recommendation of the adjudicatory agent. Suspension from the university further involves the following:

1. Notice of the action of suspension will be placed in the student's permanent file.
2. The student may receive the grade of "W" (withdrawal) in all subjects carried that quarter, according to the policy of the university.
3. The student shall forfeit fees according to the withdrawal policy of the university.
4. The student must refrain from visiting the campus, except when engaged in official conferences connected with their suspension.
5. Suspension may include any other disciplinary action that is judged to be appropriate for the student.

Prior to being readmitted to the university in good standing, the student shall submit to the Dean of Students a letter requesting readmission. The student may return to the university only upon approval of the Dean of Students after the conclusion of the suspension period.

Section 15. Expulsion — Expulsion is indefinite or permanent dismissal from the university. This action involves the forfeiture of all rights to degrees or academic honors that had not been conferred at the time of expulsion, as well as notice of the action of expulsion to be placed in the student's permanent file. The student may receive a grade of "W" (withdrawal) in all courses carried in that term. The student shall forfeit fees according to the normal withdrawal policy of the university.

- A. Expulsion is given in circumstances where a person's misconduct has been of a very serious nature.
- B. Expulsion is automatically subject to review and approval by the University Review Board whether or not said person requests an appeal, before any action is taken by the Dean of Students.

Article IV. Emergency Administrative Action

Should an individual pose an immediate danger to, or severely disrupt, an individual(s) or the university community or endanger any individual, emergency administrative action may be taken. Please see the Emergency Administrative Action Policy for more information.

Article V. The Judicial Structure and Jurisdiction

The following MSOE officials shall adjudicate issues of student conduct that allegedly violate this code as prescribed herein.

Section 1. Administrative Hearing Officers

A. Residence Life Hall Directors

The Residence Life Hall Directors or designee has original jurisdiction for the alleged violations of this code and/or of residence hall policies occurring on or about the premises of the residence halls, for any and all alleged student perpetrations unless otherwise specific.

B. Dean of Students- The Dean of Students or designee shall have original jurisdiction over all alleged violations of this code that do not come within the original jurisdiction of the Residence Life Hall Directors. The Dean of Students further reserves the right to exercise appellate jurisdiction for decisions of the Hall Directors, or designee, which result in sanctions other than termination of residency, suspension or expulsion.

Section 2. Administrative and Conduct Hearings

A. Administrative Hearings

Conduct meetings that are one on one with an Administrative Officer are considered administrative hearings. Due to severity or sensitivity of the case, two to three administrators may be asked to hear the case. Students are not to bring any witnesses or guests unless asked by the Administrative Hearing Officer. Administrative Hearings are conducted with Hall Directors, Dean of Students, or designee for the first or second time violations.

B. Formal Conduct Hearings

Students that have been through the conduct process multiple times or have several policy violations may be asked to attend a formal conduct hearing with the Dean of Students or designee(s). Students are allowed to have an advisor or family member accompany them. Attorneys are not allowed unless they are family members, or the student is meeting for a misconduct hearing.

Section 3. Appeals

Any and all appeals of decisions of the administrative hearing officers shall be heard by the Dean of Students or by the University Review Board, as specified below in Article VII, Section 8. All requests for appeals must be in writing and filed within three working days after notification to the student of the decision of the administrative hearing officer. Requests for appeals must be filed with the Dean of Students, who is the chairman of the University Review Board. The Dean of Students reviews all requests for appeals and, as the designated chief judicial officer of the university, has exclusive authority to approve or deny said requests.

Section 4. University Review Board: Rules for Composition, Jurisdiction and Appeals

By this code is authorized the University Review Board, for the purpose of adjudicating, as outlined below, alleged violations of this code, for any and all such alleged violations by students.

- A. Composition- The University Review Board shall be comprised as follows:
 - 1. The Dean of Students, as nonvoting chairperson.
 - 2. The chief academic officer of the university, ex officio or his designee.
 - 3. A representative of the faculty or administrative staff selected by the Dean of Students and agreed upon by the individual(s) whose alleged violation of this code is being adjudicated.
 - 4. A trained student representative, selected by the advisor to the Student Government Association, and agreed upon by both the individual whose case is being heard and by the adjudicating authority having original jurisdiction.
- B. Original Jurisdiction- The University Review Board shall have original jurisdiction over acts of a serious nature, as determined by the jurisdictional interpretation of the Dean of Students or designee, that may be included in “interim suspension” as specified in Article V.
- C. Review Jurisdiction- The University Review Board shall automatically review any and all decisions of administrative hearing officers that result in recommendations of sanctions of suspension or expulsion. Such review will take place prior to the implementation of such sanctions by the Dean of Students and will occur regardless of whether or not the student appeals the decision of the hearing officer.
- D. Appellate Jurisdiction- The University Review Board shall have appellate jurisdiction for any and all decisions of administrative hearing officers that result in sanctions of termination of residency, suspension or expulsion, and may have appellate jurisdiction in other cases as deemed appropriate and remanded by the Dean of Students. Additionally, the University Review Board will have appellate jurisdiction in cases where the Dean of Students or designee had original jurisdiction.
- E. Appeals- Appeals of decisions of the University Review Board in which this board had original jurisdiction shall be to the president of the university. Such appeals must be filed, in writing, directly with the President’s Office, within three administrative working days after notification to the student of the decision of the University Review Board. Appeals of decisions of the University Review Board in which this board had appellate jurisdiction cannot be further appealed under procedures established by this code.

Article VI. Interim Suspension

Section 1. Interim Suspension - In special circumstances described in this article, the Dean of Students or designee may suspend a student forthwith for the interim, pending the initiation of a full hearing without undue delay on the merits of the case in accordance with the provisions of this code.

Section 2. Reasonable Cause - This authority will be exercised only in those situations in which there is reasonable cause to believe a student's alleged behavior is of such a nature as to pose a clear and present threat to the health and wellbeing of persons, and where such alleged misconduct occurs on the premises or property of the university, or at events scheduled or sponsored by the university. For example, such acts of misconduct would include at minimum all acts of assault and/or battery with any type of weapon or instrument; gross sexual misconduct; rape; armed robbery; arson; the manufacture, distribution and/or possession of major incendiary or explosive devices not elsewhere covered in this code; and other such acts as may endanger persons or property.

Section 3. Preliminary Hearing — To invoke interim suspension, the Dean of Students or designee will conduct a preliminary hearing unless it can be shown that such a hearing is impossible or unreasonably difficult to provide.

- A. At the preliminary hearing the student will be presented with written notice of the alleged violation(s) and the name of the person(s) bringing the charges.
- B. Interim suspension is to take place immediately after the preliminary hearing and requires that the student physically remove himself/herself from the premises of the university until such time as a full hearing is convened, not to exceed seven class days after the time of the interim suspension.

Section 4. Full Hearing — At the request of the student, a full hearing by the University Review Board may be convened at a date not less than three class days after the date of suspension.

- A. Should the full hearing find the student did not commit the act(s) for which he/she was suspended, or that continued suspension is not warranted by the circumstances of a particular case, the suspension shall be revoked and the student immediately reinstated without academic or other penalty.
- B. The student may request that a full hearing be delayed up to seven class days after the date of the interim suspension. The procedure for the hearing will be the same as specified under Article VII.

Section 5. Off-Campus Violation — In cases where a student allegedly violates the law in the course of their off-campus behavior and where the university's interests as an educational community are involved, the Dean of Students or designee may elect to immediately call a preliminary hearing to determine if such off-campus conduct is probable cause to believe that said student poses a threat of harm or injury to the campus community; and may suspend such student forthwith as provided in this article.

Section 6. Appeals — In all situations covered by this article, the appeal of the preliminary hearing is by a written request, made not less than three class days after the date of the action, to the Dean of Students for a full hearing. The decision of the full hearing may be appealed only to the president of the university.

Article VII. Responsibilities of the Dean of Students

Section 1. Responsibilities - The Dean of Students retains express responsibility for the overall administration of this code (policies, procedures, sanctions and process) and specifically retains final authority for the following:

- A. Original jurisdiction for adjudicating all alleged student violations of this code, which occurred on or off campus, where such alleged violations are not within the parameters of the residence halls and, therefore, not within the original jurisdiction of the Residence Life Hall Directors.
- B. Appellate jurisdiction for decisions of another hearing officer that result in sanctions other than termination of residency, suspension or expulsion.
- C. Determining the jurisdiction of any administrator in any given case where ambiguity exists.

Section 2. Decisions and Sanctions - All decisions and sanctions of any and all administrative judicial hearing officers are recommendations to the Dean of Students.

Article VIII. Judicial Proceedings

Section 1. Charges - Any member of the campus community (student, faculty or staff member, MSOE official or employee, contractual or otherwise) may initiate charges by filing said charges with the Dean of Students or designee against any student or registered student organization for alleged violations of this code, or MSOE residence hall policies or other official university policy.

- A. A person having reasonable cause to believe that a student(s) has violated this code, or provisions of other policies so stated, shall notify the Dean of Students within a reasonable time (if possible, within three administrative working days) of the alleged violation. Generally speaking, in cases of alleged violations of this code falling normally under the original jurisdiction of the Residence Life Hall Director, such notification shall be considered accomplished:
 - 1. Upon receipt by the Residence Life Hall Director (with copies to the Dean of Students) of two or more separate violations issued to a student by authorized residence hall staff personnel concerning the same or similar alleged minor violations of this code.
 - 2. Upon receipt by the Residence Life Hall Director (with copies to the Dean of Students) of any residence hall Report of Violation form completed by any authorized residence hall staff personnel concerning alleged more serious violation(s) of this code.
- B. A person having reasonable cause to believe that a registered student organization has violated university codes, policy or rules, shall file said complaint with the Dean of Students or designee to be remanded for adjudication by Student Life and Student Government Association under its constitution and bylaws.

Section 2. Notice of Judicial Proceedings— A student shall be notified by the Dean of Students, Residence Life Hall Director or other appropriate adjudicatory agent, in writing, of any judicial proceedings instituted to adjudicate said student's alleged misconduct.

- A. Notice to the student shall take place within a reasonable amount of time (if possible, within three administrative working days) after the Dean of Students, Residence Life Hall Director or the appropriate designated staff administrator has concluded a preliminary investigation of the alleged violation.
- B. The student shall have not less than a 72-hour notice, in writing, of judicial proceedings prior to the hearing.
 - 1. Notice shall be considered received upon delivery to a student's current local address as recorded with the university, unless the student can give just cause why such receipt substantially impaired adequate notice and preparation for said hearing.
 - 2. An accused student may waive the notice required, and/or the right to a full hearing, in consideration of a more immediate disposition of the alleged violation(s).
 - 3. An accused student shall have the right to continuance if just cause for delay can be substantiated.
- C. The written notice shall include:

1. The time and place of the hearing.
2. A statement of the charges brought.
3. A statement of the student's rights as given in Section 3 of this article.
4. The name of the person(s), group or MSOE office filing said charges.

Section 3. Judicial Proceedings — Judicial proceedings are conducted under the authority of the Dean of Students and shall be conducted in a fair and reasonable manner.

- A. Each accused student shall be entitled to appear in person to answer charges and present witnesses and evidence in support of their defense and:
 1. Shall be entitled to refuse to answer questions of an incriminating nature.
 2. Shall be entitled to be accompanied by no more than four advisors, references and/or family members of their choice.
 3. Shall be entitled to an expeditious hearing.
- B. The judicial proceedings shall be closed to all except the parties to the proceedings (hearing officer, accused student, accompanying person(s), complainant(s) and witness(es) unless the accused student requests, and the adjudicatory agent agrees, that the hearing be open to specified other parties.
 1. The accused student and their accompanying person(s) shall be present during the entire time of the hearing, and shall be absent only during the times in which the judicial board or administrative hearing officer is/are deliberating.
 2. Where a single incident or occurrence gives rise to charges against more than one student, a student shall be entitled to a separate hearing if he/she can substantiate the likelihood of prejudice by association.
 3. It is to be understood by the accused student that the administrative hearing officers will have access to all past judicial records of that student, after the officer has reached a decision as to the disposition of the alleged violation, for the purpose of determining the type of sanctions to be recommended, if any.

Section 4. Cross-Examination — The adjudicatory agent retains exclusive authority to question all witnesses and parties to the alleged violation(s).

- A. The accused student may request that the adjudicatory agent inquire into specific areas of testimony of any person testifying.
- B. The complainant may request the adjudicatory agent to inquire into specific areas of any testimony of any person testifying.

Section 5. Witnesses — Both parties to the judicial hearing may present witnesses.

- A. If either party is unable to locate or receive compliance from any student asked to testify, the party may seek the assistance of the Dean of Students; however, the university may not compel a student to testify against their will.
- B. Any person knowingly giving false testimony or knowingly misrepresenting the facts pertaining to any university procedure shall be subject to disciplinary action.
- C. The adjudicatory agent may elect not to hear a witness if, in the agent's opinion, such testimony does not directly bear upon the circumstances of the alleged misconduct.

Section 6. Failure to Appear — No recommendation for the imposition of sanctions shall be based solely upon the failure of the accused student(s) to answer charges or to appear at the hearing. The evidence in support of the charges shall be presented and considered, even in the absence of the accused if the accused fails to appear and to answer charges.

Section 7. Disclosure — The university adjudicatory agent shall notify the accused student of its findings within the shortest reasonable time after a decision has been rendered. This decision shall be made on the preponderance of information presented at the hearing.

- A. This notice shall specify the charges the accused student has been found in violation of or acquitted of and any disciplinary sanction being imposed.
- B. The adjudicatory agent shall notify the complainant of its recommendation to the Dean of Students within a reasonable amount of time after the hearing and, at the discretion of said agent, any sanction said agent may recommend.
- C. All proceedings, testimony, findings and recommendations of any and all judicial hearings are confidential.
- D. The complainant, upon receipt of information regarding the findings and/or recommendations of any adjudicatory agent, shall be bound to keep in confidence such information.

Section 8. Appeal- The accused student(s) may request to appeal the decision of an administrative hearing officer through the Dean of Students, within three administrative working days.

- A. Requests for said appeal must be based on one or more of the following contentions with respect to the initial hearing:
 - 1. A substantial procedural error that seriously impaired due judicial process.
 - 2. Insufficient evidence for the original decision with respect to guilt.
 - 3. Inappropriate or excessive sanction in proportion to the violation committed.
 - 4. Substantial bias on the part of the administrative hearing officer.
 - 5. New evidence of a substantive nature, in support of the accused, not available at the original hearing.
- B. Filing a request for an appeal in accordance with these provisions shall not suspend the operation of any sanction previously imposed except as directed by, and at the sole discretion of, the adjudicating agent.
- C. The Dean of Students or the University Review Board, as the case may be, may, after review of all available information, elect to do the following:
 - 1. Sustain the decision(s) and sanction(s) of the original administrative hearing officer.
 - 2. Dismiss all charges.
 - 3. Impose a less severe, more severe and/or different sanction from that imposed by the administrative hearing officer.
- D. The above grounds for appeal, and possible outcomes, apply also to those situations, such as “interim suspension” and otherwise as specified in Article V, Section 3 above, wherein decisions of the University Review Board may be appealed to the president of the university.
